2. Participation includes possible exposure to and illness from infectious diseases including but not limited to MESA, influenza, and COVID-19. While particular rules and practices of KMCC may reduce that risk, and careful, personal discipline may reduce this risk, the risk of serious illness and death does exist; and

KMCC Concussion Protocol (2 of 2)

This protocol is in force for any participant entering the icehouse. This includes KMCC club members, high school groups, corporate events, bonspiel attendees, etc.

Concussion, also known as mild traumatic brain injury, is a head injury that temporarily affects brain functioning.

Symptoms may include headache or a feeling of pressure in the head, temporary loss of consciousness, confusion or feeling as if in a fog, memory loss surrounding the traumatic event, dizziness, ringing in the ears, nausea, vomiting, slurred speech, delayed response to questions, appearing dazed, double vision, or fatigue.

Any participant who falls and has contact with the ice by the head or face shall be excluded from play for the remainder of the day. Any participant who exhibits any of the signs or symptoms above should be evaluated by a medical professional and cleared to return to play for future games.

Any participant with loss of consciousness and/or an open wound on the head or face as a result of the fall is strongly encouraged to be evaluated immediately by a medical professional at a hospital or urgent care. Paramedics should be called to evaluate any participant with an open wound or loss of consciousness.

KMCC, its board of directors, and its members are not providing any medical advice. Return to play without evaluation by a medical professional is done so at your own risk.

I have read and agree to the above policies.
